

Professor dr. Matthias Haentjens holds the chair for civil law at Leiden University, the Netherlands. He also practices law as advocaat at De Brauw Blackstone Westbroek. He has been a deputy judge in the commercial law division of the Court of Amsterdam from 2019-2025.

He teaches and writes extensively in all areas of commercial and financial law. He has authored articles, books and authoritative case notes on commercial law, banking law, and insolvency law. He is elected fellow of several international associations, including the International Insolvency Institute, the European Law Institute, and the European Banking Institute.

Professor Haentjens was a member of the Expert Group on Securities and Claims at the European Commission, a member of the drafting group for the UNIDROIT project on Digital Assets and Private and is a member of the UNIDROIT working group on Bank Insolvency Law. He regularly advises national governments and international organisations on matters of financial and commercial law.