Notice on the logistics of the event

For in-person participants, please note that the event will take place across multiple venues within the conference area, including an auditorium (160 seats) and several break-out rooms. As auditorium capacity is limited, and since parallel sessions are scheduled in the afternoon, it may not be possible to attend every session in person. Access to sessions will be subject to room capacity and available seating on a first-come, first-served basis. Sessions held in the auditorium will be live-streamed to other rooms. Sessions held in break-out rooms will neither be recorded nor live-streamed.

For remote participants, please note that only the sessions from the auditorium will be available in streaming.

Please note that the time and the title of the sessions included in this document should be understood only as indicative and may evolve depending on the availability of the speakers.
