

Jean-Michel Van Cottem is Master in Law, Université catholique de Louvain (1981) and Executive Master in Public Management, Solvay Business School (2001). He started as a lawyer at the Brussels Bar before becoming in 1996 a member of the legal department of the Belgian Banking and Finance Commission. He was appointed deputy Director in 2003 in charge of the supervision of financial information (secondary markets, prospectuses and market abuse) and international relations. In 2011, he became director and head of policy at the Belgian Financial Services and Market Authority. He is now in charge of legal and policy and of international relations.