

Professor Jennifer Payne

Jennifer Payne is Professor of Corporate Finance Law at the University of Oxford. She writes widely in the field of corporate law in leading journals and edited collections. She specializes in corporate finance law and capital market regulation. Her recent books include Principles of Financial Regulation (Oxford University Press, 2016, with John Armour, Dan Awrey, Paul Davies, Luca Enriques, Jeff Gordon, and Colin Mayer); The Oxford Handbook of Financial Regulation (Oxford University Press, 2015, with Niamh Moloney and Ellis Ferran); Corporate Finance Law: Principles and Policy (Hart Publishing, 2011, 2nd edition 2015, with Louise Gullifer); and Schemes of Arrangement: Theory, Structure and Operation (Cambridge University Press, 2014). She is a contributor to Palmer's Company Law, a founder editor of the Journal of Corporate Law Studies and a founder editor of the Oxford Business Law Blog. She has been a Visiting Professor at a number of leading institutions internationally, including Melbourne Law School, the National University of Singapore and the University of Auckland. In addition to her membership of the Securities and Markets Stakeholder Group, Jennifer is also a member of the Consultative Working Group of ESMA's Corporate Finance Standing Committee.