

CURRICULUM VITAE

Mr. Charalampos Gotsis is a professor at the Department of Business Administration and Organization of Piraeus University. He studied economics at the universities of Hamburg and Marburg and obtained a Ph.D.. His thesis was on "The contribution of banking system to financing Greek economy".

He teaches Macroeconomics, economic policy, international trade, banking economics, money and banks, international economic relations etc. . He also teaches the postgraduate courses of E-MBA and MBA-Tourism of Piraeus University.

His research interests comprise issues of Macroeconomy, economic policy, banking and international trade. He has written a series of books and many articles in greek and foreign scientific reviews.

He has been president and CEO to a number of investment firms and companies of the manufacturing sector.

He has participated at many conferences and seminars with a significant number of presentations.