

Troels Hauer Holmberg

Troels Hauer Holmberg holds the position of senior economic advisor at the Danish Consumer Council where he is responsible for retail investments and investment advice. He is also a member of the Danish Complaint Board of Banking Services where he has been involved in the resolution of several hundred disputes related to investment products. He has been involved with the regulation of investment markets and products since MiFID I entered into force in 2007.

Troels works closely with the European Consumer Organisation (BEUC) on all issues related to retail financial products. He is a member of the Danish Money and Pension Panel which is established by law and provides objective consumer information on financial products. He is also a frequent contributor to the Money Magazine published by the Danish Consumer Council. Troels has represented the Danish Consumer Council in many governmental working groups related to securities law and regulation.

Troels holds an MSc in Political Science and Economics from the University of Copenhagen. He also holds a Graduate Diploma in Financial Economics from Copenhagen Business School. At Copenhagen Business School he has served as an external lecturer in the subject Strategic Investments and Finance.